Hello!

I feel that God has always given me a passion for both learning and for teaching. Since high school, I have always felt the call to teach students and show them that learning math and science is a way that we can learn about how God has ordered the universe and given us a unique ability to understand His character through education. My hope is that by learning more in education, we will grow in our heart of worship of God. I am definitely blessed that God has allowed me the opportunity to teach about His creation and character at CCS!
