Hello!

Chinese Christian Schools is a school where I can openly share my faith and beliefs and where subjects are taught from a Christian perspective. I have sent my own children here for their education.

I realize that I have a lot to learn and am still growing. Having three children of my own who are completely different has taught me to try to look at each child individually and to look at the positive. I know that what strength I have is from God – He is my strength. I enjoy the kindergarten age very much. I feel that this is the age where you can actually see growth; not just physically and academically, but also most importantly, spiritually.

I am especially excited about the children and their families that have started to attend church after they started attending the school. God has given me opportunities to lead some of my kindergarten students to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ
