Hello!

I suspect I was born to teach High School.

When I was still 19 years old, I started mentoring other teens, and I have been working with, mentoring, or teaching teens ever since.

Besides the deep love and empathy I have for students in this age group, I have a teaching gift from God, a solid science background from Stanford, and a dream of building young people up to become what God has called them to be.

I connect with the students, understand how to help them grow academically, and, because of my ministry as a pastor's wife, I understand how to help them grow spiritually as well.
