Hello!

Ever since college, I have known that my lifelong pursuit would be in Biology, or the study of life. There is no better testimony of God's glory through His creation than having biologists observe the tiny cells that make up our body. Even when the genetic codes were identified and mapped out, they demonstrated God's vast wisdom. One cannot help but believe that human existence is not merely a coincidence. Being a Chinese myself who was raised in Taiwan but attended high school in America, I feel strongly connected to the student culture at Chinese Christian Schools. I feel I can reach out to the kids who are taking a similar route and probably feel the same kind of pressures I did as they strive academically. Teaching biology at CCS is what God has called me to do, and God has equipped me for this task.
